Brief Report

DotSlash conducted its first event of the academic year, a Python Session, on the 12th of October, 2024. The club's treasurer, Jeet Shah, taught the basics of Python in APJ001. Although everyone was welcome to attend, the event primarily targeted UG1 students who had their CSIT101 final exam the following week. The participants actively participated throughout the session and asked questions. The course was designed to familiarize beginners with basic Python concepts and help those with upcoming exams. The treasurer also asked for doubts/special topics that the participants wanted him to cover during our next session, scheduled for the 16th of October, 2024. The attendees shared positive feedback at the end of the event. The success of the first event marks a positive start for us this year.
